NEW EVENTS ADDED TO ON CAMPUS PRESENTS WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP LECTURE SERIES IN WEILL HALL

Entrepreneur and Author of *Do Cool Sh*t* Miki Agrawal, April 13
Filmmaker and Advocate Jennifer Siebel Newsom: Redefining Leadership, April 25

(Sonoma County, CA) — Sonoma State University's Green Music Center announces the addition of two new events added to the On-Campus Presents Women in Leadership Lecture Series.

Young social entrepreneur Miki Agrawal (April 13) presents "Do Cool Sh*t," named after her #1 Amazon bestseller, *Do Cool Sh*t: Quit Your Day Job, Start Your Own Business, and Live Happily Ever After*. Named one of Forbes' Top 20 Millennials on a Mission for her successful ventures, including WILD, Super Sproutz, and THINX, Agrawal inspires others to do as she did: be bold, follow your intuition, and live your success. A dynamic speaker, she offers valuable advice on growing a business and living a better life.

Filmmaker and advocate Jennifer Siebel Newsom (April 25) presents "Redefining Leadership." Newsom is President and CEO of the non-profit organization The Representation Project, which inspires individuals and communities to challenge and overcome limiting gender stereotypes. The organization uses film as a catalyst for cultural transformation, encouraging everyone, regardless of gender, race, class, age, sexual orientation or circumstance, to fulfill their human potential.

On-Campus Presents is a programming series which promotes co-curricular and student life events for Sonoma State University students, including musical, comedy and lecture performances. The Women in Leadership Lecture Series brings influential women from diverse backgrounds to Sonoma State University to share insight and perspective on the changing role of women in leadership.
