

GENEVIEVE GOINGS

Born to musician parents in the Bay Area, Genevieve Goings has been creating music since childhood. Touring with her neo-soul band, Legato in 2004 the artist perfected her live stage performance. Her studio career began in hip-hop, writing and recording “hooks” for multiple local artists. This expanded into joining many hip-hop groups and free styling at many San Francisco venues. Her studio experience led her into voiceover work, and to date she can be found on multiple video games, children’s toys, and websites. Since the success of “Choo-Choo Soul with Genevieve!”, she has moved to the Los Angeles area and released a solo album: “Diversity Personified”, a title expressive of not only her diverse heritage, but her effortless knack for combining genres and styles.

Most recently Genevieve produced a “Choo-Choo Soul” version of “Can You Feel The Love Tonight”(from Disney’s “The Lion King”) for the Disney Music Block Party CD. She is also currently working with Disney’s ELL division, creating musical curriculum which teaches English as second language to young children.
