GREEN MUSIC CENTER ANNOUNCES 2016–17 SEASON AT SCHROEDER HALL

Highlights at Schroeder Hall Include the Return of Sundays at Schroeder and Musicians from Valley of the Moon Music Festival

Plus, Various Educational and Community Events Across the Green Music Center Campus

(Sonoma County, CA) — Schroeder Hall at Sonoma State University’s Green Music Center (GMC) announced today its 2016–17 season. Now in its third season, Schroeder Hall showcases a diverse array of programming, with performances representing the best of Northern San Francisco Bay area, as well as featuring emerging International talent, and campus-wide educational events.

“There is an extraordinary amount of talent in the greater Bay area,” affirmed Co-Executive Director Zarin Mehta, “and it was the hope in developing the Green Music Center that it would become a focal point for arts, helping to foster a deeper sense of community within Sonoma County. The 2016–17 season in Schroeder Hall highlights outstanding local musicians and the highest level in emerging talent. From hosting Van Cliburn International Piano Competition winners to serving as the main hub for university and community musical events, Schroeder Hall celebrates and makes accessible the dynamic scope of the arts.”

Completed in 2014, Schroeder Hall is a 240-seat cathedral-like recital hall, designed specifically to accentuate instruments, organ, and voice in an intimate setting. Designed by BAR Architects of San Francisco, the 3,420 square-foot Schroeder Hall is notable for its curved architecture featuring no 90-degree angles, soaring ceilings, and dedicated organ balcony that is home to a 1,248-pipe Brombaugh Opus 9 organ.

SUNDAYS AT SCHROEDER

The popular Sundays at Schroeder series returns for a third year with a diverse array of performance offerings on Sunday afternoons. The series opens with an-all Bach recital featuring Robert Huw Morgan, with Schroeder Hall’s 1,248-pipe Brombaugh organ as the centerpiece (Oct. 16). The season continues with several untraditional artists: Aggressive Loop Productions’ (ALP) captivating silent film accompaniments (Nov. 13); experimental cellist Zoë Keating (Dec. 11); and global guitar virtuosos, Brasil Guitar Duo (Apr. 2). The Schroeder Hall organ is highlighted again later in the season with concert entitled “The Golden Age of the Organ”, featuring acclaimed organist Jonathan Dimmock (Apr. 30).

Sundays at Schroeder’s spring listing is abundant with talented young classical musicians, each on the brink of stellar international careers: International Tchaikovsky Competition prize-winner, violinist Yu-Chien “Benny” Tseng (Feb. 26); Avery Fisher Career Grant recipient, and ChamberFest audience favorite, violinist Benjamin Beilman (May 14); semi-finalist in the 2015 Van Cliburn Jr. competition, Wei Luo (Jan. 22); and First Prize winner of the Thirteenth Van Cliburn International Piano Competition, Haochen Zhang (Mar. 19).

MUSICIANS FROM VALLEY OF THE MOON MUSIC FESTIVAL
Returning for their second season at Schroeder Hall, musicians from the Valley of the Moon Music Festival are featured in three concerts this spring. Based in Sonoma, Valley of the Moon Music Festival is the first and only festival in the U.S. devoted exclusively to presenting the chamber music of the Classical and Romantic eras, performed on instruments built when the music was written. They present three varied programs in Schroeder Hall, including “The Early Clarinet” on Saturday, February 11, at 3:00 p.m.; “Schubert’s Cello and Song” on Saturday, March 4, at 3:00 p.m.; and “The Multifaceted Brahms” on Saturday, May 13, at 3:00 p.m.

KALPANA — A FILM BY UDAY SHANKAR
The sole film of celebrated Indian dancer Uday Shankar (older brother of sitar virtuoso Ravi Shankar), Kalpana is a vibrant dance-drama that revolves around a young dancer’s dream of forming his own dance academy. Originally filmed in 1948, it was restored in 2008 by The Film Foundation’s World Cinema Project, founded by Martin Scorsese, at Cineteca di Bologna/L’Immagine Ritrovata in association with the family of Uday Shankar, the National Film Archive of India, and Dungarpur Films.

The film is presented at Schroeder Hall Friday, April 7, 2017, at 7:00 p.m. as part of a weekend celebrating Indian culture. Other activities include an International symposium entitled “The Evolution of Song and Dance in Hindi Cinema” Saturday, April 8 from 9:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m. and a performance, and pre-concert lecture, by Leela Dance, the world’s leading Kathak artists, Saturday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. at Weill Hall. The symposium is free and open to the public; the pre-concert lecture is for concert ticket-holders only. For more information, please visit gmc.sonoma.edu.

EDUCATION
As an integral part of the Sonoma State University (SSU) campus, the GMC also serves the college and the surrounding community’s educational needs. Each year, SSU’s Department of Music uses the GMC facilities to present more than 100 performances for approximately 9,000 audience members. Outreach initiatives, festivals, and invitationals bring an additional 2,500 secondary school students, teachers, and guests to GMC.

SONOMA COUNTY YOUTH IN MUSIC
The GMC hosts Sonoma County's local K-12 school districts throughout the year to showcase the school's performances of choral, instrumental and jazz music. Each district has the opportunity for its students to perform in Weill Hall and these performances have featured up to 200 performers onstage and up to 1,000 parents, friends, and neighbors in attendance.

MUSIC ACCESS PARTNERSHIP (MAP)
To connect a diverse audience to the world-class artists and performances that take place at the Center, the GMC collaborates with key community partners to offer complimentary tickets for select concerts. When possible, a member of the Sonoma State University faculty or staff will introduce young listeners to elements of the performances they will attend via a pre-concert lecture. This program aims to broaden each participant’s enjoyment and appreciation of music while nurturing a connection to the GMC.

ARTS INTEGRATION WITH SONOMA STATE UNIVERSITY CLASSES

Arts Integration began in 2015 as a way to create a bridge between the Sonoma State University classrooms and the Green Music Center. The GMC, with assistance from a Theatre Arts & Dance faculty member, help SSU faculty integrate GMC concerts, lectures, and performances into their course curriculum. The GMC provides free tickets to the classes, and provides a pre-event lecture in the classroom to allow the students to ask questions, and feel comfortable about what to expect.

Tickets to the 2016–17 season in Schroeder Hall go on sale to MasterCard cardholders and 2015–16 GMC Season subscribers on Thursday, August 11 at 10 a.m. Tickets go on sale to the general public on Wednesday, August 16 at 10 a.m. Call 1.866.955.6040 or visit gmc.sonoma.edu.

Konrad Hempel, guitar and vocals

Mattef Kuhlmey, electronics, guitar, bass, and harp

Truly an experience unto itself, ALP is a group of German musicians dedicated to accompanying silent films. A mix of electronic and classic “hand-made” music, each of the soundtracks is unique and composed exclusively for the respective movie. While the timeless stories drift through the room, ALP creates a symbiosis of shiver, goose bumps, and passionate electro–noise-ambient-sound.

ZOË KEATING, Cello
Sundays at Schroeder
Sunday, December 11, 2016, 3:00 p.m.

Not your standard cellist, Zoë Keating’s music defies easy labels, though it is often pegged as avant-garde. Eschewing the complicated building process of music like this in the studio, Ms. Keating is a one-woman cello symphony using microphones, a laptop, and foot pedals to record richly textured musical themes in real time.
