Green Music Center Announces 2024–25 Season in Weill Hall & Schroeder Hall

(Sonoma County, CA) — The Green Music Center at Sonoma State University announces its 2024–25 concert season, featuring 28 performances from October 2024 through May 2025. The new 2024–25 Season includes performances by world-renowned violinist Joshua Bell (Oct 6), acclaimed vocalist and champion of The Great American Songbook, Michael Feinstein (Oct 6), Grammy Award-winning singer-songwriter Rosanne Cash (Oct 26), and more. Green Music Center Executive Director Jacob Yarrow states, “It is my pleasure to announce our captivating new season of performances at the Green, featuring today’s most memorable artists alongside fresh sounds and performers to discover. This season’s thoughtfully curated programming encompasses a wide array of genres and musical styles rooted deeply in cultural traditions from around the globe.”

The 2024–25 Season begins with a heartfelt tribute to Tony Bennett by acclaimed vocalist Michael Feinstein (Oct 6). The Australian Chamber Orchestra make their Weill Hall debut performing a transformed version of Vivaldi’s The Four Seasons inspired by the vibrant crossroads of East and West (Oct 11). Multi-platinum artist Andy Grammer presents an intimate solo performance of some of his biggest hits and personal favorites (Oct 12). One of the most ambitious and literary songwriters of her generation, Rosanne Cash brings her distinctive vocals to the Green Music Center (Oct 26).

Other highlights include eminent pianist Emanuel Ax performing Beethoven’s Moonlight Sonata (Oct 24), and Encanto: The Sing-Along Film Concert where a live band will play the music of Encanto while audiences watch the full film (Nov 21). Later in the year, the Green Music Center presents several holiday shows including Adonis Rose & the NOJO7 performing holiday music in an energetic New Orleans style (Dec 14), and acapella sensation Kings Return in a holiday performance showcasing their signature harmonies (Dec 19).

The second half of the season includes a performance by the iconic violinist Joshua Bell and soprano Larisa Martinez (Feb 6); the warm, soulful sound of Grammy Award-winning singer-songwriter Gaby Moreno in Weill Hall Loft (Feb 1); the enchanting sounds of Hawaiian music from slack-key guitarist Keola Beamer (Feb 8); jazz pianist Jason Moran reimagining the music of Duke Ellington on the 125th anniversary of his birth (Feb 15); Third Coast Percussion and pre-eminent classical tabla virtuoso Zakir Hussain in a major new work (Mar 1); Ghana born multi-instrumentalist, singer-songwriter, and dancer Okaidja Afroso (Mar 6); YAMATO: the Drummers of Japan (Mar 15), and more.

Subscription packages to these performances and many more will go on sale to the general public on Tuesday, June 4 at 10 a.m. To view the full listing of performances visit gmc.sonoma.edu.

Gaby Moreno

Saturday, February 1, 2025 at 7:30 p.m.

Weill Hall Loft

$35–$55

Armed with a warm, soulful sound, singer/songwriter Gaby Moreno offers an intoxicating invitation into her musical world for English and Spanish speakers alike. Since moving to Los Angeles from her native Guatemala, she has released 7 albums, earned multiple Grammy nominations, and won two Latin Grammys. Moreno has shared the international stage with pop music luminaries such as Bono, Andrea Boccelli, Tracy Chapman, Ani DiFranco, Punch Brothers, Hugh Laurie, Buena Vista Social Club, Calexico, David Gray, and many more. Through her various projects, Moreno has redefined Americana as the only prominent Latina in the genre today, opening the doors for other marginalized voices and transforming the landscape overall.

In addition to her critical acclaim within the music industry, Moreno has amassed a long list of accolades within the TV and film worlds. Most famously, she co-wrote the seminal theme song for cult classic TV show, ‘Parks and Recreation.’

Moreno is also a champion for immigration rights and social issues. She was recently named the first UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador from Guatemala. She is focused on mentoring young female artists and creatives.
Voice and the Violin
Joshua Bell, violin and Larisa Martínez, piano
Thursday, February 06, 2025 at 7:30 p.m.
Weill Hall
$60–$145

Soprano Larisa Martínez and violinist Joshua Bell present a new concert program, Voice and the Violin, an evening of beloved romantic arias and modern classics. The married couple said, “Our concept for this program began during the pandemic, while we were quarantined and finding new ways to collaborate and enjoy music together. Although finding repertoire written specifically for violin and voice can be a challenge, we discovered and fell in love with these gems.”

Grammy Award-winning violinist Joshua Bell is one of the most celebrated artists of his era, having performed with virtually every major orchestra in the world. Puerto Rican opera singer Larisa Martínez has graced many of the world’s top opera and concert stages.
